A THURMAN CYCLONE.

The Ohio Delegation Endorses the Old Roman and Effectually Silences All Opposition.

The Texas Delegation Meets and Organizes—A Great Scramble for Seats—Many Disappointments.

The Gray Men Almost Without Hope, while the Other Whitemen Candidates are No Longer Mentioned.

THE TEXAS ORGANIZATION.

St. Louis, Mo., June 4.—This has been an exceedingly busy day with the Democracy. All the district delegations arrived to-day and everything is in apple order for to-morrow's big convention. The weather is delightful.

Tammany Hall and the New York County Democracy arrived early this morning on their special trains, with their magnificent bands. The various state delegations held meetings at their headquarters this evening and organized for work. Following is the organization of the Texas delegation:

Chairman, ex-Governor J. W. Throckmorton of McKinney.

Secretary, W. C. Conner of Dallas.

Vice-President of the national committee, Hon. D. C. Giddings of Bremen.

Member of the committee on credentials, John Bookhout of Dallas.

Member of the committee on organization and rules, Horace Chilton of Tyler.

Member of the committee on platform and resolutions, Hon. George Clark of Waco.

Member of the committee to notify the President, Hon. W. H. Pope of Marshall.

Member of the national committee, Col. O. T. Holt of Houston. Holt was re-elected without opposition.

The organization of the delegation was effected without a single contest. Everything was harmonious. At the conclusion of the work of organizing the members received their badges and tickets, and each delegate paid $10 into the treasury in payment for headquarters, which cost $75 per day. Of course there was the usual kicking and grumbling about the distribution of tickets, and a good many Texans found themselves

LEFT OUT IN THE COLD, the delegation not having tickets enough to supply all. The demand for tickets is very great on all sides and a great crush is anticipated to-morrow. The worst feature about the management is the failure of the citizens' committee to number the seats so that each ticket holder could know where to sit. No seats are reserved and the first arrivals will capture the best seats.

The Texas delegation is solid for Thurman and the old Roman's nomination is now an assured fact.

Great interest centered to-day in the action of the Ohio delegation. They went into secret session at 3 o'clock and after two hours work completed their organization and endorsed Judge Thurman. As previously stated in these dispatches nearly one-half of the Ohio delegation were either openly or privately opposed to THURMAN'S NOMINATION.

It was thought their caucus would be very stormy, but the anti-Thurman delegates backed down when it came to putting themselves on record against the old Roman in the face of this tremendous popularity with the southern and Pacific Slope delegations. The following resolution was adopted by the Ohio delegation: Ohio votes 44 out of 46, two delegates not voting. The Democracy of Ohio does not urge any candidate for the Vice-Presidency. It submits this question to the wisdom of the Democracy of the nation. Should Judge Thurman be named he will receive our hearty, earnest and enthusiastic support. This resolution may seem somewhat equivocal and indecisive in its language, but it is in perfect accord with Judge Thurman's wishes in the premises. The old Roman told his friends he did not desire that the state of Ohio should present his name as a force on the convention. He preferred to be nominated by the Democrats of the entire nation, and endorsed by Ohio. This resolution has effectually silenced all opposition to the Ohio delegation. His nomination is now positively assured, for the Gray men have failed.

TO AWAKE ANY ENTHUSIASM for their candidate among the southern delegates. The Indiana fellows have talked themselves hoarse for Gray and are greatly discouraged to-night at the outlook. General Black and Assistant Postmaster Stevenson are hardly heard of since the Thurman boom set in and it is doubtful if they receive fifty votes each. Thurman already has enough votes to nominate him. It now transpires that Thurman is the choice of the administration, both President Cleveland and Secretary Whitney being desirous of his nomination. Congressman Scott of Pennsylvania and Calvin A. Brice of Ohio were chiefly instrumental in securing Judge Thurman's consent to run. Brice is a candidate for Senator Payne's seat from Ohio, while Whitney is grooming for the Presidential nomination in 1892.

TAMMANY HALL ON HAND.

St. Louis, Mo., June 4.—The Tammany Hall delegation arrived by special train about 10 o'clock and marched to their hotel, headed by a brass band.

At a meeting of the national Democratic committee this afternoon it was decided that Stephen M. White of California should act as temporary president of the convention.

A GREAT JAM.

St. Louis, Mo., June 4.—Delegates, alternates, political clubs and politicians of high and low degree arrived thick and fast this morning. St. Louis to-day has assumed the crowded condition that is always usual during national conventions.

As early as 7 o'clock this morning the Union depot was packed and all during the forenoon at intervals of five and ten minutes regular and special trains have been coming in and emptying their loads of people who come to take part in the convention. For a block or more outside the station carriages and vehicles of all descriptions are parked, and along the sidewalks and in the station are numerous bands and reception committees waiting for the delegations which they have been assigned to escort to their hotel. The scenes of activity which were visible about the hotels until after midnight were renewed and increased early this morning. By 8 o'clock the main corridors of the hotels were thronged with people, and in the streets the sounds of martial music were heard on every side. But little work has been done thus far to-day. The chief interest centers in the meeting of THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE. Then the temporary chairman for the convention will be decided on. There is no reason to change the prediction that the choice of the committee will elect Governor White of California, although, as a prominent committeeman remarked a few minutes ago, "I have often seen a slate flung up and then come to naught."

The delegations began arriving early. They arrived in divisions, or an individual here and there, for the first hour or two, and then whole delegations began putting in an appearance. They all wore badges and nearly all bandanas. The one word on their lips was "Thurman." Notwithstanding the excitement and bustle, there was little cheering, all hands evidently saving themselves for an outburst of enthusiasm later in the proceedings, when it would perhaps count for something. The Marine Band lay in wait for Tammany and the First Battalion Band for the New York County Democracy. Now and then they would TUNE UP THEIR PIPES, and, to the delight of the crowds, nearly raise with their voices the corrugated iron roof. At about 9 o'clock the middle space of the depot was filled with people. They were crushed together by the moving mass and the endeavor of a great number to get into a little space. The cause of the crush was the approaching arrival of the New Yorkers. The trains bearing the County Democracy and Tammany were late, and though scheduled only some minutes behind, they were really delayed several hours.

The Chicago County Democracy arrived before them and so did the Illinois club of the same city. Each had a big band of musicians. All formed in line together, the Illinois (all stock-boys) to the rear and the County (stock-boys) in front. While the bands blew themselves hoarse the undulating line of white and black tall hats on the Chicagoans quickly passed out of the depot.

A Wisconsin delegation came next, followed by the Hendricks club from La Fayette, Ind., wearing "Gray" badges. They were the first of the arrivals showing a disposition to yell.

The Peoria Democratic Flambeau club, with tin helmets and canvas uniforms, arrived about this moment and were soon joined by the Kansas City Democratic club. The FEATURE OF THE MORNING probably was the Kansas City Democratic club's entry. Their band was gayly arrayed and the members of the club wore high white hats and yellow linen dusters, and most of them had tied about their necks or wrapped about their heads bandana handkerchiefs, showing their leaning toward the old Roman. One of these handkerchief wearers had on the top of his hat a small, but completely formed, rooster. The club was followed by the grotesque-looking Flambeau men on the march down town.

The Samuel J. Randall club, of Pittsburgh, with yellow gloves, white hats, blue suits and velvet badges, were numerous in the depot, though they arrived yesterday. They were welcomed the morning additions to their numbers that came in from the east.

The Texas delegation got off the train at the east end of the depot, and comparatively escaped notice.

The crowd of spectators stayed about the depot sheds until Tammany arrived, and then the St. Louis Hendricks Association, wheeling into line, marched merrily away with Tammany, the mob of eighteenth century trawling at their heels. There was no excitement after that, and the County Democracy on its arrival soon afterward saw an almost deserted depot.

SOME OF THE LEADERS INTERVIEWED.

Joseph J. O'Donohue of Tammany hall while waiting in the depot for the formation of the line of march talked about the preference of his associates for Vice-President. "Thurman is our cry," he said, "first, last and all the time. He is the man we want and he will be nominated. With that ticket, Cleveland and Thurman, we will win, heads down."

"What majority would you predict for that ticket in New York?"

"Between 60,000 and 70,000. It will sweep the state, I can tell you."

"Will not the so-called free-trade utterances of Cleveland injure him in the state?"

"I think not. Personally I am not a free-trader. I believe in protection. So do many strong Democrats; but we recognize the necessity for a revision of the tariff, and think the revision can safely be left to Congress. Cleveland is not a free-trader. He is a reviser. Read the last part of his message. That shows it fully to our satisfaction."

Richard Crocker, the boss of Tammany, in answer to a question as to the hall's vice-presidential preference, very positively said: "We are for Thurman for Vice President, and the only possible man for President. You can put it down that Tammany has no quarrel with Cleveland. He has given the country such an administration as it hasn't seen for a long time. Now he is to be re-elected."

J. R. Goodwin of Memphis, a delegate at large from Tennessee, said to-day: "We are for Gray, but if we find he is not available we will take another candidate. I do not think Thurman is needed to strengthen the ticket generally. Gray can carry Indiana and that is more than any other candidate can do. So it would seem to us that Gray is apparently the best man for the place."

John T. Sloan, Jr., of Columbia, S. C., a delegate from the Fourth Congressional district, said: "South Carolina has not yet decided upon the Vice President matter. Thurman is very favorably talked about, and Stevenson has some warm supporters. We have yet to decide between them. They have very little regard for Gray."

CONTINUE DEBATE ON THE TARIFF.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Contrary to general expectations the tariff bill will not be shelved this week. The debate will be continued during the time that the two conventions are in session. Mr. McCrary, one of Speaker Carlisle's most intimate friends, said to-night: "We have decided to continue the debate on the bill without interruption until it is passed. From time to time it will be said aside to allow the passage of appropriation bills that will not be likely to cause a contest, as was done last week with the agricultural bill. Gentlemen on either side who are going to both conventions have been able to arrange so there is no necessity for stopping the debate."

"Can nothing be done to limit the debate?"

"Certainly; it is within the power of Mr. Mills to move at any time that the committee rise and move that general debate on a certain section be limited to a definite time. If we have a majority, and so far every vote has shown that we have, the motion will be sustained. Ample time will be given for all proper discussion and I believe that in three weeks the consideration of the bill will be concluded."

I am not one of those who believe that it will be the middle of August or the end of September before we adjourn. If we give the Senate three weeks or a month to discuss the tariff, we ought still to be able to adjourn by the first week in August. Two years ago it was August 5 before we got away."

"What do you think about the prospects of the bill?"

"I believe it will pass substantially as it left the committee. There will be some amendments agreed upon as was determined in caucus, but these amendments will not alter the bill by $2,000,000, or, to be exact, about $1,700,000."

THE FORT BROWN INVESTIGATION.

The members of the sub-committee of the House military committee in charge of the investigation of the Fort Brown matter have finished taking the testimony and are now engaged upon their report. This will command the action of the War Department in refusing to carry out the provisions of the law which appropriated the sum of $160,000 for the purchase of the site, an amount considered by the War Department committee as being over three times its actual value. The report will be accompanied by a bill repealing the act and appropriating $60,000 in lieu of the amount named. The new bill will contain a clause providing that unless the owners consent to transfer the property, guaranteeing a clear title, within ninety days of the passage of the bill, for the sum named, the act shall cease to have effect. The owners will no doubt be glad to accept the amount rather than miss the sale altogether, but the action of the committee will be a great disappointment.
